PREFACE

Twelve years ago I started to put together our Loy family history which my mother had started in the 1960s. My mother, Anna Marie Wise Bueltmann Rowold, had written a preliminary Wise family history in 1977 The Wise Family Ancestors and Allied Family Groups of George Franklin Wise Library of Congress call # CS 71 .W812 1977. She intended to do the Loy family as well and continued gathering information. She had file drawers of material and corresponded with many members of the direct and collateral lines. A rough draft of several pages also existed which I used as a starting point along with the Stewart/Lynch book The Loy Family in America.

The Loy Family in America, though valuable for some source information and for leads to descendants with whom my mother corresponded, unfortunately contains quite a few errors, particularly in relation to our Loy line. In 2000, Eloine Patton Chesnut graciously sent me her Loy Notebook, an unpublished compilation of material that she and her parents had been collecting since the 1940s. Today, much genealogical research can be done on-line, and researchers on the same or related lines communicate and exchange information that way. It is really fun to find new cousins, and their information has often answered questions, filled in gaps, and led to new discoveries. Throughout this updated version, Lots of Loys (previously titled Some Loys), I have attempted to give the e-mail addresses of active researchers on any particular line. The primary focus in this book is on my direct descent from Hans Jurich Loy through Adam, Jacob Sr., Jacob Jr., and Michael Loy. Some information will be included on the related lines and families, but I have not included all the descendants of the collateral lines. Anyone interested in that information may contact the relevant researcher by the e-mail address given. I have verified in so far as possible the data and dates for my direct line. For other lines, I have generally accepted the work of other researchers and when dates or names were in conflict, I have used the dates or names connected with a primary source or cited record.

One unsolved question is finding the documentation for the statement that Adam Loy, the son of Hans Jurich, served in the Revolutionary War with General Anthony Wayne and was wounded at the Battle of Paoli. The following statement was made on page 6 of the History of the Matthew Frank Family written by Mrs. H. L. Nelson, 1921:

George Peter Loy was born in Maryland. He was the son of Adam Loy who served in the Revolutionary War, taking part with General “Mad” Anthony Wayne in the battles of Stony Point and Paoli, and was wounded in one of these engagements. Adam Loy and his family came down the Ohio River along with Wayne and his troops, and settled in Kentucky, near Lexington.

The problem is that no source is given for this information, and we and other researchers have not found Adam in any list of Revolutionary soldiers.

Correspondence of Norman Pearman, a grandson of Henry Loy and Barbara Harkins, and that of Clarence O. Loy to Joseph F. Loy repeat the statement “Adam Loy fought under Anthony Wayne in the Revolutionary War and he was wounded at the Battle of Paoli, Sept. 11, 1777.” Again no source is given for this information. Since these letters were written in the 1940s and 1950s, they could be simply relying on the statement in the History of the Matthew Frank Family although one wonders how it was decided that he was wounded at the Battle of Paoli, and nothing further is said about the Battle of Stony Point. Pearman also states that Adam Loy was enrolled from Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, but later says this is incorrect.

In the 1900 Biographical History of Darke County, Ohio pages (408-409) a slightly different statement is made regarding Adam's son, Jacob Loy, in an article on Michael Loy.

"His [Michael's] grandfather, Jacob Loy, was born in Washington county, Maryland, in 1766, of German parentage, and became a fair German scholar. He saw George Washington and Cornwallis when the latter was prisoner." (See description below of the primary road that passed by the Loy farmland, on which General Anthony Wayne traveled, making this seem likely.)

We do know that Adam and his son George Peter did stop for a while in Kentucky where George Peter married, and that as soon as land in Ohio was offered for sale, they entered land in the area. Jacob Parker, husband of Mary Loy, Adam's daughter, joined Wayne's army when Wayne was raising recruits at Pittsburgh for the purpose of chastising the Indians of the Northwest, who were then threatening a destruction of the settlers there. While pursuing his duties, Parker noticed land on Twin creek. He built a hut there as early as 1798 and remained off and on until the land was surveyed and offered for sale. He then entered a quarter section where he lived for the rest of his life. (From an article published in The Eaton Register, March 4, 1875.)

We have unearthed much additional information since 1995, but the statement about Adam's Revolutionary War service has remained unproved. In a 1996 article "The Loys in Pennsylvania and Maryland," Edward Spannaus, a descendant of Adam, states that he had reviewed the Frederick County muster rolls and all of the muster rolls for the Pennsylvania regiments as recorded in the published Pennsylvania Archives and he found no record of Adam Loy. But, since the records are notoriously incomplete, he felt this was not proof positive that Adam did not serve. Ed further suggested that Adam may be the private listed as "Adam Lung" in Capt. van Etten's volunteer company, mustered out at Ft. Penn on 1/15/1781. According to H.M.M. Richards, author of The Pennsylvania Germans in the Revolutionary War, this company took many casualties at the "Sugar Loaf Massacre" in the Wyoming Valley on the Pennsylvania frontier on Sept. 11, 1780, and this battle is often confused with the battle at Brandywine on Sept. 11, 1777. The Battle of Paoli was part of the larger Brandywine battle, so this suggestion may prove to be the source for the family "myth."

Most researchers feel that the immigrants Georg Christoph, Matthias, John George and John Henry Ley were brothers. The sons of these brothers were all of an appropriate age to serve in the Revolutionary war. Georg Christoph's son Michael served as an officer in the Revolution with Captain DeHart of the Lancaster County Militia. The Leys contributed heavily to the support of the Continental Army while it was encamped at Valley Forge. George Washington visited the Ley home, Tulpehocken Manor, three times: once to hunt, fish and rest, and twice to inspect the locks being constructed on the property for the Union Canal.

Matthias Ley's sons, Michael and George, served during the Revolution in Captain Smith's Company, 2nd Battalion, Berks County Militia.

John Henry Ley's son, Daniel, according to War Department records (Vol. I, p. 265, Pension #15792) furnished a substitute for Revolutionary War Service, Henry Cump (Kumpf), probably a relative of John Henry's wife, Maria Elizabetha Kumpf. Henry Cump served under Captain James Eaton during January 1782, guarding prisoners at Winchester, Virginia. Daniel was granted 187 acres of land in Hampshire County, Virginia by the Commonwealth of Virginia on 13 September 1791 for this service.

It seems very unlikely that Hans Jurich's (John George's) son Adam did not serve in some way, and perhaps, after all, the statement in the History of the Matthew Frank Family about Adam Loy's service is true.

Pearman -Patton Papers

The Pearman - Patton papers are mentioned throughout this book and Eloine Chesnut, daughter of the Pattons explains:

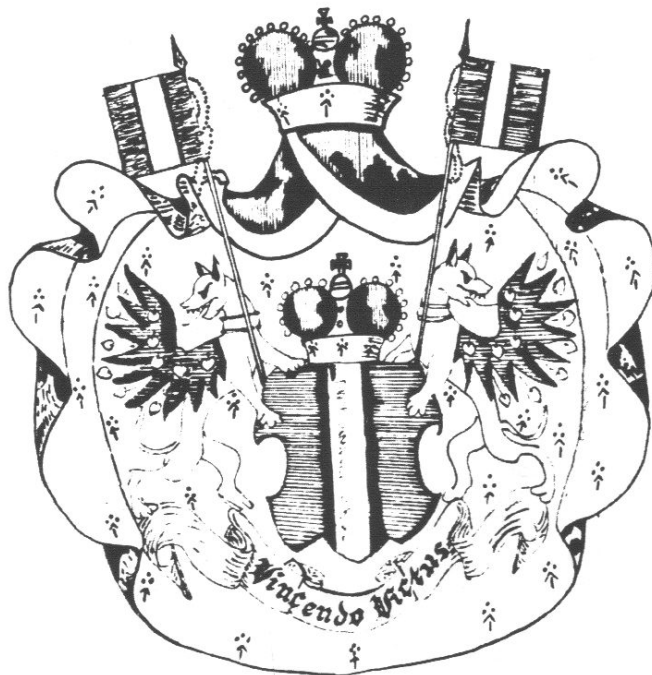

In December 1938, Norman Pearman, of Chicago, wrote to his first cousin Libby Nelson [Sarah E. Loy Nelson] inquiring about the Loy family. She suggested that he write to her daughter Anita who lived in Wayne County, Indiana a few miles from Preble County, Ohio, where many Loy families had settled. George S. and Anita Patton became deeply involved in the research. George had become interested in family research in the 1920s when he was employed by a publishing company that wrote biographies for county histories. Both Pattons and Pearman searched through many Preble and Butler County cemeteries and records. At that time their research was limited to courthouse records, cemetery surveys and limited interviews. As I was a child, I remember the trips to the cemeteries, which always included a picnic lunch and lots of space to run and play tag. Many of the grave stones had been broken and stacked and it is not known if they were ever salvaged. The Pattons and Pearman corresponded until the beginning of World War II when other concerns became more important.

Norman Pearman also shared information with Claud Loy VanDyne, the co-author with Jennie C. Stewart of Loy Families in America. Every effort has been made to locate Norman Pearman's papers but they have not been found. His only child, a daughter Dorothy was still living in 1999 but has not been located.

The Patton - Pearman research is part of the following Loy family history. I corresponded with many interested Loy researchers in the 1970s and intended to compile a book with the tremendous amount of information that I had accumulated. I added to the generations on my direct line from Peter Loy and Catherine Temple, using vital records that were not available in 1939. The Preble County families presented a number of unresolved questions therefore my book was not finished. Faith Bueltmann Stern has kindly taken on this project, added to it and presents it for future researchers.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Settlement of the Germans in the back-country of Western Maryland An excerpt from Roy Wampler's introduction to *The Derr Family

The colony of Maryland, settled in 1634 by the English, was the private property of a Catholic baron, Lord Baltimore. In the first century of the colony's existence, settlers made their homes along the coast, and the western part of Maryland remained completely unopened [B32, p. 56]. By 1732 the Maryland government had noticed that some of the German settlers of Pennsylvania and New Jersey had been persuaded to move to Virginia and settle in the Shenandoah Valley. A stream of migrants, mostly Germans, had begun to flow southwest over an old Indian trail, the Monocacy Road, which led from Pennsylvania through western Maryland to Virginia. Realizing that these land-hungry Germans were just the sort of people needed for Maryland, in March 1732, Charles Calvert II, Fifth Lord Baltimore, issued a proclamation which was drawn up with an eye on the German migration between Pennsylvania and Virginia. "Wee being Desirous to Increase the Number of Honest people within our Province of Maryland and willing to give Suitable Encouragement to such to come and Reside therein Do offer the following Terms," the document begins. Briefly, Lord Baltimore's suggestion was the following: Any family that would arrive within the next three years and promise to settle in Maryland "on any of the back Lands on the Northern or Western Boundarys of our said province" should receive two hundred acres of land of their own choosing, completely free for three years; from the fourth year on they should pay a rent of one cent per acre per year. This proclamation was rapidly disseminated among the German settlers in Pennsylvania and among those who were already on the move [B32, pp. 58-59].

Lord Baltimore's offer obtained the desired result. In the first year, 1732, only a half-dozen families settled in the backwoods of Maryland. But in the next few years others followed. Each new family brought several more [B32, p. 59].

While the Germans were spreading southward along the Monocacy River, almost to the Potomac, English and Irish pioneers were moving in from Annapolis and Baltimore, and helped to settle the lower reaches of the Monocacy Valley. The first town was laid out in 1745 and named Frederick, after the son of Lord Baltimore [B32, p. 64]. The first settlements in the Middletown Valley, which lies west of Catoctin Mountain and east of South Mountain, were made about 1740 by people of English blood, but the English pioneers were quickly followed by German immigrants [B2, p. 323]. Communities of German settlers sprang up rapidly: Middletown (1740), Lewistown (1745), Myersville (1745), Creagerstown (ca. 1770), etc. [B32, pp. 77-78]. It is said that in 1776 the German language was spoken more frequently on the streets of Frederick than was English [B2 p. 2].

In 1730 the land on the Monocacy was still a wilderness; by 1748 it had to be formed into a separate county (Frederick County); and by 1755 it was the second largest county of the Province of Maryland in terms of population, having 13,970 inhabitants at that time [B32, p. 90].

Meanwhile, some settlements were being established farther west in Maryland, west of South Mountain along the Conococheaque Creek, in what was later (1776) to become Washington County. Here again, the first settlers, in the 1730s were English or Irish, but soon the Germans were streaming in [B3, pp. 22-23; B32, p. 79]. Hagerstown was laid out by Jonathan Hager in 1762; Sharpsburg was settled by 1768 [B3, p. 483; B32, pp. 82,86]. The majority of the settlers came directly from Pennsylvania. As the population in eastern Pennsylvania increased and the good lands there were gradually taken up, the hardy pioneers pushed westward across the Susquehanna River [B3, p. 13}. After crossing the Susquehanna at Harris Ferry (now Harrisburg), they proceeded to the headwaters of the Conococheague and followed it southward toward the Potomac [B32, p. 79].

The Loys and their relatives were part of this pattern of settlement. Hans Jurich Loy (John George) arrived in Philadelphia in 1733, settled near Myerstown, Pennsylvania for a few years and then in 1737, with a syndicate of six men, he settled and founded Fredericktown, Maryland, where he also signed the constitution of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Frederick.

Of the thousands of Germans who settled in Maryland before 1760 and transformed the character of that colony, with very few exceptions they were Pennsylvania-Germans [B58, p. 56]. More than 68,000 Germans immigrated to Pennsylvania via the port of Philadelphia between 1727 and 1775 [B58, p. 31]. Others had arrived earlier, starting in 1683. Although Philadelphia was the most popular port of entry for the German immigrants, thousands came in via Boston, New York, Baltimore, Annapolis, Alexandria, Charleston and Savannah [B20, p. xiii; B34, p. 14].

These Germans came almost entirely from the southwestern German states (the Palatinate, Baden, Württemberg, Hesse), Alsace, Saxony, Silesia and Switzerland, with the Palatines predominating [B55, p. 616]. Cunz and Wittke caution that the term “Palatine” or “Palatines” became so much a part of the language of the time that it was frequently applied to all German-Protestant immigrants, no matter what part of Germany they came from. Some of the so-called “Palatines” originated in Silesia, Holstein, or Switzerland, rather than in the Palatinate [B32, pp. 46,426; B70, p. 68].

The area which constituted the Palatinate in the 18th century—the lands of the Electoral Palatinate along the middle Rhine—extended over country now divided between Baden-Württemberg, Hesse and Rhineland-Palatinate (Rheinland-Pfalz in German) [B7, 1968 ed., Vol. 17, p. 94].

Why did so many Germans leave their fatherland for America in the 18th century? A London publication of 1754 undertook to explain the reasons: “By the most authentic accounts, for many years last past very large numbers of Germans have transported themselves into these British provinces of North America....The causes of their removal from their native countries were various. Some of them fled from the severe persecutions they were exposed to at home on account of their being Protestants; others from the oppressions of civil tyranny;...others were drawn by the solicitations of their countrymen who had settled there before them; but for the greatest part by the prospect they had of relieving themselves of their deep poverty and providing better for themselves and their families in the provinces to which they respectively retired.” (Quoted by Williams [B2, p. 2].)

The Thirty Years’ War (1618-1648) and the wars which followed it left the Rhineland ruthlessly devastated—depopulated and starving [B58, pp. 27-29]. Those who decided to emigrate to the New World faced many severe hardships during their journey. But in spite of all the difficulties, new settlers continued to come. “The wonder is not that so many succumbed, but that so many faced all hardships uncomplainingly and after a few years of service emerged from all difficulties as successful farmers, who made the country blossom as a rose. It only shows of what sturdy stuff these pioneers were made” [B20, p. xxxvii].

Those who were unable to pay the cost of their transportation to America could come as “redemptioners.” These redemptioners were given free passage by the shipowners, who recouped themselves by selling the passengers as indentured servants [B17,p.93].

Various tributes to the accomplishments of the German settlers in the hinterland of western Maryland have been recorded. Schultz [B34,p.3] states: “The Germans turned the wilderness of Frederick county of the year 1735 into a blooming garden, so that in 1790 Frederick county was the largest wheat-growing county in the United States.”

Morrison and Commager maintain that the Germans “were by far the best husbandmen in America, using a proper rotation, with clover and root crops. Their houses were commonly of stone, and heated by stoves; their fences of stout posts and rails; but what most impressed strangers were the great barns, with huge gable-end doors, through which a loaded wagon could drive onto a wide threshing-floor, flanked by spacious hay-lofts, cattle and sheep pens, and horse stables” [B17, p. 312].

As early as 1745 Daniel Dulaney wrote in a letter to Maryland’s Governor Ogle: “You would be surprised to see how much the country is improved beyond the mountains, especially by the Germans, who are the best people that can be to settle the wilderness; and the fertility of the soil makes them ample amends for their industry”[ B32, p.92].

William Eddis, an Englishman who had traveled about extensively in the province, wrote in 1771 on returning from western Maryland: “The richness of the soil, and the salubrity of the air operated, however, very powerfully to promote population; but what chiefly tended to the advancement of settlements in this remote district, was the arrival of many emigrants from the Palatinate, and other Germanic States. These people who, from earliest days, had been disciplined in habits of industry, sobriety, frugality and patience, were particularly fitted for the laborious occupations of felling timber, clearing land, and forming the first improvements; and the success which attended their efforts, induced multitudes of their enterprising countrymen to abandon their native homes, to enjoy the plenteous harvest which appeared to await their labours in the wild, uncultivated wastes of America” [B32, pp. 92-93].

And shortly before the outbreak of the Revolution, in 1773, Governor Robert Eden wrote to Lord Dartmouth and mentioned the Germans who had settled in western Maryland with the following praise: “They are generally industrious laborious people. Many of them have acquired a considerable share of property. Their improvement of a Wilderness into well-stocked plantations, the example and beneficent Effects of their extraordinary industry have raised in no small degree a spirit of emulation among the other inhabitants. That they are a most useful people and merit the public regard is acknowledged by all who are acquainted with them” [B32,p. 93].

Cunz [B32, p. 93] concludes that the German settlers on the Monocacy and the Conococheague could scarcely have asked for more favorable testimonials.

[All sources cited in brackets can be found at the end of the section on The Derr Family]

W. A. Knittle in his book Early 18th Century Palatine Emigration (1937, repr. 1976) reaches many of the same conclusions:

The nearly 3000 emigrants [from the Palatine area of Germany] who landed in New York in 1710 made up the largest group of people to arrive at any one time in the early colonial period. About the same time, a company of 700 had gone to North Carolina and another group to Virginia. In succeeding years they were followed by many thousands, the vast majority of whom settled in Pennsylvania.

There were many reasons why these Germans came to America at this time. First, devastation by wars and the malice of some of the rulers of duchies and principalities scarred the German districts of Spire, Worms, Hesse-Darmstadt, Zweibrücken, Nassau, Alsace, Baden and Württemberg. That evidence can be seen to this day more than 200 years later. Second, heavy taxes were imposed to pay for the cost of war and for the elaborate court life of the rulers. Third, the winter of 1708 was the worst in one-hundred years. The rivers froze solid and even the sea along the coast. The severe cold froze fruit trees and grape vines. Fourth, many suffered Religious persecution and left in order to be able to worship according to their beliefs. Fifth, some came simply looking for adventure. Sixth, liberal advertising by colonial proprietors lured others and seventh, the British government cooperated and encouraged emigration.

History is never written finally. New sources and materials are constantly coming to light.

HISTORY OF THE TOWNSHIPS AND COUNTIES WHERE THE LOYS SETTLED

Four of the Loy brothers: George Christopher and his son Michael, John George, John Henry, and Ludwig settled in an unorganized section of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. The western three-fourths of the original county of Chester was erected into Lancaster County in 1729. The area around the Loy homestead was established into Heidelberg Township in 1757. Just north of Heidelberg Township, Dauphin County was erected in 1785. Bethel Township, Dauphin County was created in 1793. When present day Lebanon County was erected from northern Lancaster County and eastern Dauphin County in 1813, Jackson Township was also created from southern Bethel and northern Heidelberg. Today the old Loy homestead stands in Jackson Township just west of Myerstown.

Matthias Loy and his son Michael settled in an unorganized section in the extreme northwest corner of the original county of Philadelphia. In 1752 this area was erected into the sixth county of Pennsylvania known as Berks, and Albany Township was also created into Greenwich Township where the old home would have existed today.

In 1788 Michael, son of Matthias, moved from Berks County with his entire family westward across the Susquehanna River founding the town of Loysville. This area had been erected into Cumberland County, Pennsylvania in 1750 and Tyrone Township in 1754. In 1820 Perry County was erected, separating the northern, over the mountain, half from Cumberland County including Loysville, in Tyrone Township.

About 1737-38 JOHN GEORGE journeyed south into the province of Maryland, settling along the Monocacy River. This area was then part of Prince Georges County, Maryland. In 1748 the western portion was erected into Frederick County, comprising the area of the present day counties of Frederick, Montgomery, part of Carroll, Washington, Allegany and Garrett. The location near the Loy homestead soon became known as Fredericktown; today's Frederick in Frederick County, Maryland.

About the time the Loys were moving from Pennsylvania to Maryland, the first public road laid out west of the Susquehanna, under Penn's government, was authorized by the courts at Lancaster (in 1739), ten years before York county was formed. This road extended from Wright's Ferry through the present sites of York and Hanover to the Monocacy settlement, near Frederick, Maryland, a distance of thirty-five miles from the point of starting. It soon became an important line of travel from the east to the south and the southwest. This route was taken by General Wayne in 1781, when he marched with his forces from York, Pennsylvania to Yorktown, Virginia, to the surrender of Cornwallis. It was also the route over which the British and Hessian prisoners were removed during the Revolution to Western Maryland and Virginia. President Washington passed over it in 1791 on his way from Mt. Vernon to Philadelphia, and Generals Wayne and St. Clair in 1791 and 1792 on their way to quell the Indians in the Ohio valley. [Prowell, Brief History of York County, Pennsylvania 1906 p. 51]

About 1779 John Henry purchased land in Frederick County, Virginia. Frederick County was erected in 1738, comprising the lower Shenandoah Valley west of the Blue Ridge Mountains, including the present day counties of Frederick, Clarke, Shenandoah, Warren, part of Page and the following counties presently in West Virginia: Hampshire, Hardy, Grant, Mineral, Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson. The Loy homestead today would have been in Frederick County, Virginia.

Daniel, the son of John Henry, moved westward across the Allegheny Mountains into eastern Hampshire County. This county, now in West Virginia, was erected in 1753, comprising the present day counties of Hampshire, Hardy, Grant and Mineral. This Loy homestead was and is in Hampshire County in an area called The Capon Valley.

Martin Loy, who arrived in 1741, eventually settled into Orange County, North Carolina. This county was erected in 1752 comprising the present day counties of Caswell, Person, Alamance, Orange, Durham, Chatham and part of Lee. Although the Loys migrated out of North Carolina in the early 1800s, their land there would have been situated in present day Alamance County, which was erected in 1849.

Another Martin, who came in 1769, and/or 1774, moved westward into southwest Pennsylvania where he founded the town of Loysburg. This area was and still is in Bedford County, Pennsylvania, which was erected in 1771. Woodbury Township was created in 1785 and in 1838 Loysburg found itself in South Woodbury Township.

THE LOY FAMILY

Lae, Laey, Lay, Laye, Lea, Lee, Leh, Lei, Leu, Ley, Loew, Loye, Luys, Lyh

As part of the emigration of Germans from the Palatinate, in 1733, long before the Revolutionary War, our immigrant ancestor Loy came to America from Germany. The name, simple as it seems today, had many spellings earlier due to the phonetic spelling and the pronunciation by the Germans and the English, the difficulty in reading the penmanship of that time, and also the amount of education both of the writer and the person dictating. The name has been found as : Ley, Lei, Lay, Laye, Lyh and Syh. The latter probably resulting from the similarity of upper case L and S in certain scripts.

Hans Jurich Ley, a German immigrant of French extraction, from the Palatinate, arrived in Philadelphia August 27, 1733 on the ship, Eliza (Elizabeth). With him were his wife, Maria Elizabeth nee Trout, and John Henry Ley, aged 13. John Henry may have been a brother. Also on the ship's passenger list was a Nicholas Sly. (Nicholas Ley) This spelling was due to the pronunciation. Many Loys came to America in the years following: Ludwig, George Christopher, and Matthias. The families settled in several locations as evidenced by the names of Loys, Maryland and Loysville and Loysburg in Pennsylvania.

Loy Immigrants

(Text from The Loy Family in America by Stewart and Lynch)

On the family crest, as it appeared during the 17th and 18th centuries in Baden Baden Germany, the name was spelled LEY and pronounced as if it were spelled LIE. This is probably the original correct spelling for our branch of the family.

The Leys, who emigrated from Germany to America between 1725 and 1750, usually spelled their name Ley. However, once here, the English port masters corrupted, interpreted and phonetically spelled the name in any of the variant spellings noted above.

Since 1775-1790 the usual spelling of our family name has been LOY. In some instances the name was spelled LEA, LEE or LEH, though there were other unrelated families who used the latter format. There are Loys in England and Ireland who may or may not be of the same blood as those who immigrated to America.

There were at least seven individual heads of families or single men who came to America between 1732 and 1774 of whom we have knowledge. There were several others about whom we have never found further trace other than their entry records. All were recorded as LEY, excepting one pair of brothers who were recorded as LAY but later as LOY and LEY. The Johan Jurich Ley, of whom we have the fullest knowledge, had his name and that of his family spelled in most of the above ways during the first fifty years he lived in America.

We have no definite proof as yet that any of the immigrants were actually brothers. We know some were father and son. But the families of George Christopher 1697, Matthias 1706, JOHN GEORGE 1705, John Henry 1720, and of Ludwig 1711 were so closely related that we feel reasonably certain they were brothers. There is a legend that four brothers came to America about the same time. Perhaps John Henry, being only a boy, may not have been meant as one of the brothers. Then, too, maybe one was a cousin.

The first LEY/LOY that we (1) feel sure belonged to our line, at least in Germany, was George Christopher. One man says he came to America in 1719. If he did, he returned, for we have the record of his arrival at Philadelphia on the ship Loyal Judith on 25 September 1732 at age 35. He settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, in that part which is now Lebanon County. He was said to be the father of that Michael who lived in Lancaster County in 1776 and entertained George Washington during the war. Michael served in DeHart's Company of Lancaster County militia. He lived just west of Myerstown, in a mansion he owned, which was still standing in 1984.

The next arrival was Matthias (Mattes-Matthew) arriving at Philadelphia on 17 August 1733 aged 27 years, 5 months with his wife Anna Maria age 24 and three children. He settled in Berks County where he later died. His son Michael served under Capt. Smith in a company of the Berks County militia. Michael, with most of his children, married and single, moved to, settled, and founded present Loysville, Perry Co., Pennsylvania where the Loy Tressler Orphanage is located. His family is fairly written up in the pamphlet put out by the orphanage. His descendants seem to have been closely associated and intermarried with the same families as John George, our next arrival.

HANS JURICH (JOHN GEORGE) aged 28, his wife Mary Elizabeth nee Troud age 18 arrived on the ship Elizabeth at Philadelphia 27 August 1733. He was listed as a miller and sick. The record in Germany also lists him as a miller and the only Ley miller to migrate during that period. Also arriving with him were his parents-in-law and their children, and his younger brother John Heinrich. John George settled near Myerstown, Pennsylvania for a few years. In 1737 his name is listed in a group of six men, who attempted to buy land near what later became the county seat, Frederick, of Frederick County, Maryland. (Miss Jennie Stewart wrote mainly on this line but followed only the line of his son Frederick, his son Frederick and his son Frederick Slagle Loy through Nelson Fleming Loy, whose family is complete down to the ninth generation.)

Johan Heinrich (John Henry) was 13 when he arrived with his older brother John George. It appears he journeyed with his brother to Maryland then later continued on to Frederick County, Virginia where he died and his will was probated 1799.

Ludwig Ley arrived at Philadelphia on September 1, 1736. He was 25, the right age to be a brother of Christopher, Matthias, John George or John Henry, but we have no proof that he was. He settled in Lancaster County in the same township as John George and Michael (son of Christopher) and Michael (son of Matthias). He died in 1779, leaving a will stating four daughters, names unknown, but no male heirs.

Martin Ley was the next arrival on 26 September 1741. There were at least two other Martins who came later. This one, whose age was not given, may also be related to John George and John Henry. This Martin journeyed to and settled in North Carolina where he had a large family. (Source: Mary Lou Loy in a letter from Ruby Johnson)

Another Martin Loy came in 1774. He was of a later generation and may not be related. He founded Loysburg, Bedford County, Pennsylvania.

Some of the other arrivals, about whom we know little or nothing, may have been some of the original immigrants who went back for a visit, on business, or to fetch relatives.

There were a Stephen and Andreas arriving in 1753. They were brothers and sons of Abraham. We have no entry date for an Abraham. He may have entered by another given name. They lived in Maryland in 1765, later in Staunton County, Virginia and in Kentucky.

There was a Martin in Frederick County, Maryland about 1767. He may have been one of the two mentioned, and he may be that Martin who came in 1769. The one in Maryland was a brother or son of Stephen and Andrew who came in 1753.

The John Ley who came in 1740, aged 19 could be John Henry who possibly went home for schooling and came back, as they were of the same age. Or he could be that John found in Virginia records whom we have identified with John Henry.

Matthew, Christopher, John George and John Henry married into the same families, lived near each other and appear to be closely related, if not brothers.

Our interest lies largely with John George and John Henry who came 27 August 1733, settled in the vicinity of Stouchberg, Pennsylvania, near Michael, son of Christopher. After a few years, John George bought land in Frederick County, Maryland 1737, moved there and died there in 1765. John Henry moved on to Frederick County, Virginia buying land there, living there and dying in 1799.

The following passenger list of the Ship Elizabeth was produced from a photostatic copy of the original document on file at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, part of the Pennsylvania Archives. It was transcribed by C. L. Van Dyne. The following notes give additional information about passengers.

Comments by the transcriber: In this group there has been some confusion and alteration in the original record, both the pen and handwriting change where the Ley recording seems to have been superimposed over the original entry. Johan Heinrich seems to have been written over Hans Jurich, then again inserted as Johan Heinrich written over the Hans Jurich and the Eliza. Lee. In the Captain's list of males over 16 years old the name is written Hans Jurich Ley, age 28, sick. It seems probable to me that the Trouds and Leys were related; that the Mary Apell. was an attempt to abbreviate Maria Appollonia Troud, and that the Eliz. Lee was Maria Elizabeth Ley, wife of Hans Jurich. The dividing lines (spaces) are those of the original document, whether or not they have any family or other significance, I do not know, but am inclined to think that they have. The names and their spelling are copied as nearly as the writer could make them out, and he knows that in several instances they are poor attempts at the actual spelling of the German names, as done phonetically by English speaking clerks.

- (1) Hans Peter Hoffman married Apellonia Troud
- (2) Frederick Unself married Apellonia Troud after Hans Peter Hoffman died.
- (3) Taball Troud son of Hans Martin Troud.
- (4) Hans Martin Troud in-law of John George Ley.

GENERATION ONE

Hans Jurich Ley / John George Loy

1. Hans Jurich Ley/ John George Loy 1705-1765

On the ship Elizabeth (Eliza) under Master Edward Lee arriving at Philadelphia on 27 August 1733 came our forefather, Hans Jurich Ley, henceforth commonly known as John George Loy. With him was his younger brother John Henry Ley, his young wife Maria Elizabeth Troud and her parents Hans Martin and Judith Troud, also her older sister Maria Appolonia Troud and her brother Tabal Troud, with his wife and year old son.

Since John George was twenty-eight upon arrival, we conclude that he was born in 1705 in the vicinity of Baden-Baden, Germany (Bad Bergzabern) of French extraction. One source names his father as Peter Loy (Ley) b. 1690. He was listed as a miller, and his father-in-law (Hans Troud) was a bauer (farmer), both of whom continued in their occupations in America. Maria Elizabeth Troud Ley was born in 1715, probably near the Ley homestead in Germany. (Source cited above gives birth date as 1708.)

Both the Trouds and the Leys settled in the vicinity of Stouchberg, in the northern part of today's Lancaster County, Pennsylvania between Reading and Lebanon near Michael Loy the son of the immigrant Christopher. This Michael was a personal friend of George Washington, as noted above. Because of Hans Jurich Loy's close association with Christopher, Matthias, and John Henry Ley, we assume they were brothers or at the very least close cousins. The early legend is that four brothers came to America. The families attended the Warwick Lutheran Church near Stouchberg, Pennsylvania (1734-1739).

John George Loy's first two children were born in Pennsylvania, Maria Rosina Ley in 1734 and John Jacob Ley in 1736. Both were baptized by Pastor Stover, who entered their names in his Muddy Creek Church Book, although he indicated the family was from Warwick in the area near the present-day Brickerville. Although Stover added a third child (Anna Elieizabetha Ley) to the Muddy Creek record, and omitted all three entries from his personal Journal, making no reference to the Leys at Monocacy in either of his books, analysis shows that Anna Elieizabetha Ley, the third child, was born on Dec 11, 1738 undoubtedly at Monocacy and was definitely there when baptized on June 17, 1739. [The above two paragraphs and those that follow are from pgs. 293-296 of Dr. Grace Tracey's Pioneers of the Old Monocacy 1987]. Tracey writes in a note: "Since Ley's first children were baptized within a month of their birth, as was customary when a pastor was nearby, the six-month delay here underscores the probability of departure from Pennsylvania before 1738. Peter Hoffman and his wife Maria Appolonia were the child's sponsors.

Most probably the family had come to Maryland about 1737, following their 1733-shipmate Frantz Weiss who was also a brother-in-law, his wife Barbara Troud being a sister of Maria Elizabeth Troud Loy. With them also came Peter Hoffman and his wife Maria Appolonia Troud Hoffman. Both Weiss and Hoffman had also appeared earlier in the Muddy Creek Church Book, and both were present in Monocacy for the 1739 baptism.

On June 11, 1737, according to Benjamin Tasker's report, John George Loy was joining five other Germans in an attempt to purchase the entire Tasker's Chance tract. This parcel was a large one, covering 7,000 acres. The land had been surveyed for the Honorable Benjamin Tasker

April 15, 1725 and patented to him June 9, 1727 It lay immediately west of the Monocacy River and extended some four miles northward from the mouth of Carroll Creek. Westward the land stretched between two and four miles from the River, but still fell roughly a mile and a half short of the German Monocacy Road which paralleled its western boundary nearer to Catoclin Mountain. Along its southern border lay John van Metre's Meadow and his son's Pipe Meadow. To the southwest was Rocky Creek. The location of Tasker's Chance was thus central within what was to become Frederick County, and it provided a most suitable site for Frederick, the county seat. Further on November 25, 1738 in Pastor Stover's records, John Georg Lay appeared with his wife at Manaquesen as Lutheran baptism sponsors for a daughter of Philipp Ernst Gruber. Stover named him again at Manaquesen on September 21, 1740, this time as a sponsor for a daughter of Joh. Georg Beer. Baptisms for Loy's own children born in 1746 and later, may be found in the Frederick Reformed Church Book, some in the Lutheran. Ley's name is not among those who contributed to the purchase of the Lutheran church book about 1742, but as Hans Georg Lay he was the first of six wardens to sign the June 24, 1747 church articles prepared by Pastor Muhlenberg. He likewise headed the list of those who made possible the building of the pastor's house in Frederick, having given two days of work and 20 shillings of money. From History of Frederick Co. Maryland by Williams Vol I, pgs 47-48.

For a brief period of time, the Moravians, Reformed and Lutherans in the Maryland/Pennsylvania area were visited by a number of fake or quack ministers, dentists and doctors, which led to much unrest. Apparently the coming of Muhlenberg chased some of these persons away. On June 24, 1747, after much importunity, Muhlenberg came to Monocacy. Deputies met him at Conewaga, and escorted him to Monocacy. He said I am now at Monocacy, of which the Moravians boast so much in their reports. Here he found a log church and two parties, followers of Carl Rudolph (an imposter who had just left) and the Moravians, who adhered to Nicke. Muhlenberg preached, prayed, and administered the Lord's Supper. He also wrote articles of faith and fellowship in English, so that all could have a knowledge of them if needed, headed as follows:

Articles of Monocacy Lutheran Church

"For the government of the Lutheran church at Monocacy. Written in their church book by Rev. H. M. Muhlenberg, June 24, 1747." and required the signatures of the members to the articles.

'Whereas we the subscribers enjoy the inestimable liberty of conscience under the protection of our Gracious Sovereign King George the II and his representatives our gracious superiors, of this Province and have used this precious privilege since our first settling here at Monocacy, till this day in worshiping God Almighty according to the Protestant Lutheran persuasion, brouded in the Old and New Testament and in the Unaltered Augsburg Confession, and other Symbolical Books, we will pray for our most gracious Sovereign and all that are in authority, that we may lead a peaceable and quiet life in sincerity, Godliness and honesty. And whereas we are at times disturbed by pretended ministers that Style themselves Lutherans, but cannot produce any lawful certificate or credential of their vocation or ordination, by a lawful consistory or ministry, and cause strife, quarrels and disturbance among the congregation, we the subscribers, and church wardens and members of the Protestant Lutheran congregation, erect and agree and bind ourselves to the following articles, in primis:

1. That our German Lutherans confess their adherence to the Holy Scriptures and also to the Unaltered Augsburg Confession, and the other Symbolical Books.
2. That whenever possible in accordance with the same, they have the sacraments administered by regularly called and ordained ministers.
3. That their rules do not allow that open and wilful offenders against the ten commandments of God and against the laws of a Christian government: should be acknowledged by them as members, but be excluded.
4. The church we have erected at Monocacy and used hitherto shall stand and remain for the worship of our protestant Lutheran religion according to our confession as long as the blessed acts of tolerance and liberty stands. The Reformed shall have liberty for their lawful ministers.
5. No minister shall be admitted to preach or administer the holy ordinance, without a lawful call and certificate of his lawful Lutheran ordination and examination by a Lutheran ministry, and without consent of the church wardens.
6. Every year, shall be chosen four or more blameless members for church wardens and they shall be chosen by “per plurima vota.”
7. These wardens shall hold and preserve the keys of the church, the vessels and ornaments, and deliver every piece in time of worship, or when necessity requires it.
8. Two of the church wardens shall keep an exact account of the alms, and offerings, and be ready each year for reckoning with the church wardens and the congregation.

These articles were dated June 24, 1747 and were signed by the six wardens and twenty-six other members of the congregation residing at Monocacy and Frederick.

When the original group of men was unable to raise enough money for the total purchase price for Tasker's Chance, the owner Benjamin Tasker, sold the land to Daniel Dulany, with the proviso that those people already living there, would be allowed to purchase the land they lived on. On July 28, 1746 Daniel Dulany conveyed 213 acres on Tasker's Chance to John George Loy. [Prince George's County Land Records, BB 1:438]. The land was located west of today's U.S. Highway 15 and south of Willow Road. Tuscarora Creek flowed through it. Two years later Stephen Ramsburg was listing “Lye” as one of the Germans being overtaxed by the sheriff. In March 1753 George Loy and Frederick Unselts served as executors for their shipmate Francis Wise. Also in March of 1753, George Loy purchased Jacob Peck's land called Lambson and its mill for 160 pounds.[Frederick County Land Records, E:105]. Lambson received its name from Henry Bachdold who had a survey made on July 17, 1743 beginning “on the waters of the Little Tuscarora to the westward of his plantation.” In 1749 Bachdold (Bechtel) sold his land to Jacob Peck who ran a fulling mill on the Tuscarora. The site lay some two miles due west of Loy's Tasker's Chance land and was in the Indian Springs area on today's Yellow Springs Road. A petition for the forerunner of that road had been submitted in 1750, only three years earlier.

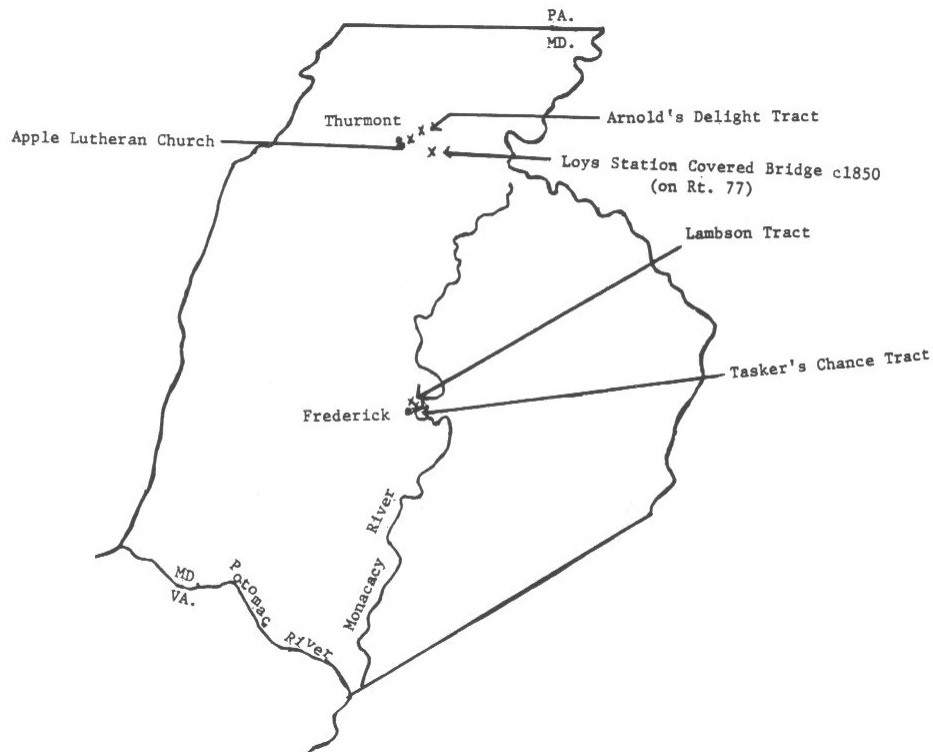

On December 1, 1755 Frederick Unselts named George Lay as one of his executors and guardians for his children. Then, in 1757, although over fifty years of age, George Loy served with his neighbor Stephen Ramsburg's Militia company during the French and Indian War. In 1759 Arnold Livers Jr. deeded 268 acres of Arnold's Delight to [John] George Loy. Arnold's Delight was originally resurveyed from The Back Land on April 12, 1744 and consisted at that time of 1,699 acres. The land covered a fairly wide area northeast of today's Thurmont, lying between U.S. Highway 15 and Apples Church Road and between Little Owens Creek and Ohrndorff Road. [See pgs. 249-252 of Tracey/Dern Pioneers of Old Monocacy for a fascinating history of this land and Arnold Livers and his descendants.]

Traditional stories claim the first settlers of Tasker's Chance arrived around 1730-1732. Pastor Stoever's records list Henrich Sinn and the Brunners in 1736. Benjamin Tasker listed Daniel France, Abraham Miller, John George Loy, Joseph Smith, Peter Laney (Tetur Lany) and Jacob Stoner as those persons who were settled on his land, Tasker's Chance in 1737. The Maryland Rent Rolls in 1744 list Frederick Hevenor, Francis Wise, the Brunners, Casper Myer, Jacob Storm, Peter Hoffman, Christian Thomas, John George Loy, Stephen Ramsburg, Jacob Stoner, Conrad Keller, Chris Lowndes, Casper Pickenpaw, Lenard Everly, the Kemps and Melcho Warfield as being "in possession" as of 1744.

Daniel Dulany purchased Tasker's Chance with the condition that those already settled upon the land be allowed to purchase their portion from Dulany. In 1746 Dulany gave deeds to Henry Sinn, Francis Wise, Peter Hoffman, Nicholas Fink, Abraham Miller, Stephen Ramsburg, Jacob Brunner, John Brunner, Jacob Storm, Gilbert Kemp, Henry Neff, Henry Rhodes and Christian Thomas. The three tracts known as Lambson, Tasker's Choice and Arnold's Delight were near Creagerstown and Monocacy, about three miles from present day Frederick, which was established in June 1746. Lambson (Lambshheim) was named for a town northwest of Ludwigshafen, Germany. Hans Jurich Ley finally moved his family permanently to the Frederick area in 1740 after traveling back and forth from Pennsylvania to Maryland for three years.

Frederick County Maryland

Lambson and Tasker's Choice

The Loy family worshiped at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Frederick, Maryland where we find numerous records of John George, his wife, and family. John George was one of the wardens of the church when it was established at Monocacy until the church was relocated at Frederick and Monocacy church was then abandoned. Records are also found at the Apple Church at Thurmont, Maryland. Much of the following information is obtainable from these church records. Additional records can be found at the Historical Society of the United Lutheran Church of America in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

John George Loy died in Frederick County, Maryland between 1 August and 16 September 1765, leaving a will in which he mentions his eight living children. His wife Maria Elizabetha Loy seems to have preceded him in death.

Because of the way their names were bracketed with the Trout (Troud) family (See The Troud Family in the supplement Related Families), we feel they were newly married in Germany before emigrating to America. Their first two children were born in Pennsylvania. There is some confusion about whether the third was born in Maryland, and where she was baptized. See the notes below. All the others, including two who appear to have died young, were born and baptized in Maryland.

GENERATION TWO

John George and Maria Elizabeth Troud Loy's ten children are as follows:

Maria Rosinah, Jacob, Anna Elizabeth, Appolonia, Maria Sybilla, Adam, George, George Frederick, Mary Elizabeth, Charlotta Amalia.

2. Maria Rosinah Loy<sup>2</sup> was born 31 October 1734 near Myerstown, Cocalico township, Pennsylvania and was baptized at the Warwick Church. In 1753 she and her husband, Peter Shaffer (1728-1792), were living in Frederick County, Maryland on Lambson which Rosinah's father had purchased from Jacob Peck. Rosinah inherited the farm tract named Lamsheim (Lambson) upon her father's death. Their name Shaffer also appears as Schafer and Shaver. Peter Shaffer's will dated 9 Feb 1785, probated 1 Sep 1792, recorded Liber GM#2 Folio 449, Frederick Co., MD.

Their children were:

3. Jacob Loy<sup>2</sup> was born in Myerstown, being baptized at the Warwick Church on 5 September 1736. He married Mary Magdalena Gassaman in 1765/76 in Frederick. He received the tract known as Tasker's Chance. He died in 1766 leaving no children. His widow, Maria Dorothea, on 6 Jan 1767 married George Peter Hoffman, son of her father-in-law's shipmates Hans Peter and Maria Appolonia Hoffman [Frederick Reformed Church Book marriages]. George Peter Hoffmann was born 4 Nov 1743 bapt. 7 Jan 1744, son of Johann Peter Hoffmann and Maria Appolonia Troud Hoffman. Loy's home was near the present day fork of U.S. 15 and Brooke Rd. North of Harmony Grove, Maryland. (Note difference in Maria's middle name—same person?)

4. Anna Elizabeth Loy<sup>2</sup> was born in Frederick County, Maryland during one of her father's trips to Maryland, in which her mother accompanied him, on 11 Dec 1738. (Another source gives birth on 11 July 1738 in Cocalico Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania) Wherever she was born, the records of the Muddy Creek Lutheran Church in Cocalico Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania show that John Peter Hoffman and his wife, Maria Appolonia Troud (Maria Appolonia was the sister of Maria Elizabeth Troud and therefore the aunt of Anna Elizabeth), were sponsors for Anna Elizabeth's baptism on 17 January 1739 at Monocacy in Maryland. (Later this couple was living in Maryland near John George Loy [Maria Appolonia's brother-in-law] who was the administrator for the estate of John Peter Hoffman, and for the estate of Frederick Unsel, the second husband of Maria Appolonia Trout Hoffman.) See also Dr. Grace Tracey's statement on page 13 above regarding Anna Elizabeth's birthplace.

Anna Elizabeth married Sebastian "Bastian" Derr. She died prior to 1765, and her husband remarried. In 1755 Sebastian Derr received 307 ½ acres from Stephen Ramsberg, which he called Dearbought. Ramsberg had obtained those acres of Tasker's Chance from Dulany in 1753. When Sebastian Derr died in 1802, his will listed the following seven children:

- 20 i Sebastian Derr<sup>3</sup> born 1756
- 21 ii Rosinah Derr<sup>3</sup> born 16 Apr 1758 married John Boogher (Bucher)
- 22 iii Elizabeth Derr<sup>3</sup> born 17 Feb 1761 married George Getzendanner (1758-1801)
- 23 iv Jacob Derr<sup>3</sup> born 2 Dec 1762 married Margaret Wentz
- 24 v Susan Derr<sup>3</sup> born 28 Jun 1767 married Casper Devilbiss (1761-1835)
- 25 vi John Derr<sup>3</sup> born 1774 died 8 Apr 1838
- 26 vii George Derr<sup>3</sup> born 17 Apr 1777 died 24 Oct 1793
- 27 viii Thomas Derr<sup>3</sup> born 20 Feb 1780 died. 8 Apr 1845 married Anna Barbara Steiner.

Information on Derr family is taken from Roy H. Wampler's book The Derr Family 1750-1986. Mr. Wampler is a descendant of Philip Derr, so far as we know, unrelated to Sebastian, but he includes data about Sebastian and his descendants in Appendix B pages 433-438. For further information on this family, see The Derr Family in the supplement Related Families, also compiled by Faith Stern.

5. Appolonia Loy<sup>2</sup> was probably born in 1740 in Frederick County, Maryland and died before 1796 in Frederick, Maryland. She married George Frederick Troxell probably before 1764. George Frederick Troxell was baptized 28 Jul 1741 in Egypt, Bucks County, Pennsylvania; died 10 Oct 1796 in Frederick, Maryland. He was the son of Peter Troxell and Juliana Catharina (surname unknown).

Appolonia and George Frederick had eight children:

- 28 i Mary Troxell<sup>3</sup> born 5 Nov 1764
- 29 ii Jacob Troxell<sup>3</sup> born 1 Apr 1767
- 30 iii Elizabeth Troxell<sup>3</sup> born 11 Mar 1769. She married on 30 Jun 1793 John Nicholas Zimmerman, born 5 May 1759 in Montgomery County, Pennsylvania; died on 17 May 1826 in Frederick, Maryland
- 31 iv Frederick Troxell<sup>3</sup> born 1771
- 32 v John Troxell<sup>3</sup> born 22 Dec 1773 baptized 20 April 1774
- 33 vi Catherine Magdalena Troxell<sup>3</sup> born 4 Apr 1776 baptized 30 Jun 1776
- 34 vii Margaretha Troxell<sup>3</sup> born 7 Feb 1779
- 35 viii George Peter Troxell<sup>3</sup> born 28 Sep 1781

All eight children were born in Frederick, Maryland. Some records can be found in the Evangelical Reformed Church, Frederick County, Maryland (formerly Rocky Hill, Woodsboro). The name Troxell is sometimes shown as Drachael. Troxel(l)Trails by Richard M. Troxel 1977 continues this line.

6. Maria Sybilla Loy<sup>2</sup> was born in Frederick County, Maryland about 1742 and died before 1775 in Frederick. She married Benedict Stoner, son of Jacob and Magdalin Steiner. In 1775 Benedict married (2) Anna Barbara Thomas, daughter of Christian Thomas with whom he had ten children. Benedict died in October 1796. According to Stewart/Lynch (p.30-31) he named the following children in his will: Mary; Elizabeth married to Nicholas Zimmerman; Jacob; Frederick; John; Catherine; Margaret; and George. [Liber G.M., No. 1, Folio 607, Frederick Co. Maryland.] Dr. B. Steiner says Benedict had only two children with Maria Sybilla.

Known children of Maria Sybilla Loy and Benedict Stoner were:

- 36+ i Benedict Stoner<sup>3</sup>, christened 10 May 1772 in ? Maryland, died 20 Jun 1822 in Preble County, Ohio. He married Keziah Morris.
- 37 ii Mary Stoner<sup>3</sup> born before 1775. She married on 16 Mar 1788 Abraham Faw.

Other possible children were Stephen Stoner married Barbara Ramsburg; John Stoner married Susanna Ramsburg and Catherine Stoner married John Derr.

Mary Sybilla and Benedict Stoner lived on an estate containing 250 3/4 acres situated on the Monocacy about 2 miles from Fredericktown [Frederick]. For further information on this family and its intermarriage with the Loys, see The Stoner (Steiner) Family in the supplement Related Families, also compiled by Faith Stern.

Adam Loy

7. Adam Loy<sup>2</sup> was born on 16 September 1746 in Frederick County, Maryland and was baptized 15 Oct 1746 at the Reformed Church in Frederick. He died after 11 Nov 1803, the date of his will, in Lemon Twp., Butler Co, Ohio. When Adam's father, Hans Yurich Loy died in 1765, Adam and his brother, Frederick, inherited the tract of land near Frederick, Maryland known as Arnold's Delight. In 1766(?) Adam married Anna Barbara(y) Cassel. Anna Barbara was born (when?) the daughter of Christian (or Peter) and Christina Cassel (or Anna Marie). Adam with one of his sons traveled to Kentucky in 1793 and thence to Ohio about 1796. The rest of the family went to Ohio around 1801 when claims could be filed for land. Adam died in Butler County, Ohio in 1803. Anna Barbara died in 1828 in West Alexandria, Preble County, Ohio.

Their 11 children were:

- 38+ i Jacob Loy Sr.<sup>3</sup> born 1767 in Frederick County Maryland* died 31 Dec 1853 in Preble Co. Ohio married Barbara Bock . * The date is shown as 1766 in Salem Lutheran Church Cemetery records West Alexandria, Ohio
- 39 ii Maria Elizabeth Loy<sup>3</sup> born 27 Mar 1772, bap 1 Apr 1772 (died in infancy)
- 40+ iii George Peter Loy<sup>3</sup> born 30 Jul 1773, bap 29 Aug 1773 married Nancy Foster Riddle, then to Sarah Miller

- 43 vi Adam Loy<sup>3</sup> born 24 Oct 1778, bap 3 Jan 1779
- 44 vii Catherine Loy<sup>3</sup> born 1780 married John Howard (Houser)

- 45     viii    Maria Elizabeth Loy<sup>3</sup> born 10 Feb 1782, bap 15 Feb 1782
- 46+    ix     Mary Loy<sup>3</sup> born 10 Mar 1783, bap 13 May 1783 married Jacob Parker
- 47+    x     Peter Loy<sup>3</sup> born 10 Mar 1783, bap 13 May 1783 married Catherine Temple
- 48     xi     Anna Christina Loy<sup>3</sup> born 8 Jan or 2 Apr 1786 died 4 Mar 1861 in Sunbury, Ohio married on 1 Jan 1805 Peter Catrow* born 1781 in Frederick, Maryland died 1854

Note about Mary and Peter Loy: these dates are from Apple's Lutheran and Reformed Church Records near Thurmont, MD. Mary is listed as Anna Maria and Peter as George Peter, both as children of Adam and Barbara Lei. Dates for 39, 40, 42, 43, and 45 are from the records of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Frederick, MD.

Note about Peter Loy: For some time researchers were uncertain whether Peter was the youngest son of Adam or the oldest son of Jacob Jr. A Norman Pearman letter is somewhat unclear on this. We conclude that Adam is the father of Peter because he is named as an executor of Barbary Cassell Loy's will along with his brother-in-law, Jacob Parker and as an heir with his other siblings. Furthermore, in the biographical sketch about Elizabeth (Betsy) Loy Stoner, daughter of Peter and Catherine Temple Loy, Betsy's paternal grandparents are named as Adam and Barbara Loy.

Adam Loy was christened at the Evang. Lutheran Ch., Fred. Maryland, as transcribed from German in Maryland.Hist.Soc. records: p. 25, "Adam Laye, son of John George ux or Maria Elizabetha (Trout) Laye, born September 15, 1746. Witnesses: Adam Bell ux or Barbara." p.760, "Parents -Adam Ley and Barbara -Child - Anna Christinana, nat. died. 8 Jan (1786) bpt. died.13 Marz. Witness: Anna Christina filia, Peter Cassel." [ref: Stewart]

Loy researcher Norman Pearman in letter 12 March 1939 states that "the Loys were on the first census 1790 in Maryland... and resided on a farm west of Hagerstown on the Conococheague River which area is now in Washington County, Maryland." He also shows Loy land in Preble Co. Ohio. 1/4 160 ac S13SE T6 R3 in Twin Twp. [Barbara Loy is shown as the original proprietor] On a visit to Ohio he found the "Loy homestead was 1-1/2 miles south of the little cemetery south of Germantown on the county line road...now [1939] occupied by Mr. Ben H. Forman, RR #1, Germantown, Ohio." [Pearman letter 5 Feb 1939] "Lemon Twp, Butler Co. Ohio, in 1803 at the time of Adam Loy's death, comprised all of what is now Lemon and Madison Twps. and that part of Franklin Twp., in Warren County lying west of the Great Miami river" [Pearman letter 19 Sep 1939.]

See: Hist. of Butler Co, Ohio, Bowen 1905; Preble Co. Deeds Vol.10 p.203.

The family line of Anna Christina Loy and Peter Catrow is not carried forward; therefore this biography is included as it contains information regarding an allied German immigrant family.

Peter Catrow ***

Peter Caterow, son of Zephenia and Middleton Caterow, located in German Township in 1804. His parents were natives of Germany, who settled in Frederick County, Maryland and there Peter was born in the year 1781, and there his father died. In 1802 Mrs. Caterow, her son Peter, and her two daughters, with their husbands, Walter Cox and Zachariah Selby, started for Ohio, arriving in Warren County in January 1803, and in the spring of that year located on land in Butler County. Peter, being unmarried, lived with Cox and Selby until Charles, his brother, came to Ohio, and the two entered a half-section of land in German Township, about two and one-half miles to the south of Germantown, which they occupied in the spring of 1804. On the 1st of January 1805, Peter married Christina Loy, daughter of Adam Loy, and resided on his farm until 1850, then moved to Sunbury, where he died in the seventy-third year of his life. The remains of himself and wife are interred on Sunbury Hill, where sleep so many of the pioneers of German Township. History of Montgomery County, Ohio, page 32

All of the children of Adam and Anna Barbara Cassel Loy were born in Frederick County, Maryland. They were members of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Frederick. All the children eventually migrated, as had their parents, to Ohio. George Peter Loy accompanied his father, Adam Loy (a revolutionary soldier) on an exploratory expedition to the west in 1792, leaving the rest of the Adam Loy family in Maryland in the care of Adam's oldest son, Jacob Loy. Adam and George Peter spent the next five years exploring the Ohio River valley, headquartering at Lexington, Kentucky, where George Peter was married. By 1797, the two men had determined on a location on the Twin Creek delta, then in Butler County, Ohio, now in Franklin Township, Warren County, Ohio, on which they squatted until it was opened for settlement, April 1, 1801, when they immediately filed claim to the site and moved the entire family to Ohio during that summer. They built and operated a saw and grist mill and a still.

Norman B. Pearman, a Loy cousin who lived in Chicago, did extensive research on the Loy family in the early 1930 and 1940's. He stated in one letter, dated 12 March 1939, after a tour of the Poast Town area that "the Loy homestead in Butler County, Ohio was occupied in 1939 by a Ben H. Forman, being 1 ½ miles south of the little cemetery south of Germantown on the county line road. The house was built 143 years ago." [about 1796]

The Reformed Church of West Alexandria Ohio

...the Reformed church at West Alexandria was organized as early as 1816. Among the first families connected with the church were the Sorbers, Loys, and Keislings. Until 1853 the church was known as The Union Church, having been built and occupied by the Reformed and Lutheran churches conjointly. In 1853 the Reformed society built a new and substantial brick church. The cemetery at West Alexandria was laid out in 1817, one acre donated by Jacob Hell, and one acre by Jacob Parker. The ground is deeded to the Reformed and Lutheran churches for cemetery use. The first burial was that of Isaac Loy, a lad of ten years, which took place in the fall of 1817. The second interment was that of Moses Parker, a little son of Jacob Parker, and the third that of Jennie Meloin. . .

WEST TO OHIO

Some of the Loy families in Generation Two began to move West as cheap lands were made available by the government, and many in the next generation followed. Ohio was their first stop.

Early Settlements in Ohio

This map shows early settlements that existed in Ohio before it became a state on March 1, 1803. Most of these settlements are located near waterways which often provided easier transportation than the rough roads and trails in the territory.

Canals of Ohio

Canals played an important part in linking existing waterways and in providing market routes for in-land areas. They were not long-lived, however, replaced by railroads, and much later truck traffic. Remnants of many canals can still be seen.

Counties of Ohio

This map shows the year of organization for each Ohio County.

Preble County

This map of Preble County shows the townships Harrison, Twin, and Lanier. The circled areas show the sections in which Loy family members owned land. Some land was also owned in the adjacent counties, Montgomery and Warren near the towns of Pymont and Franklin.

GENERATION THREE

36. Benedict<sup>3</sup> Stoner Jr. (Maria Sybilla<sup>2</sup> Loy, John George<sup>1</sup>), christened 10 May 1772 in Maryland, died 20 Jun 1822 in Preble Co, Ohio. He married on 20 May 1800 in Maryland Keziah Morris, born 1781 in Maryland. His name is sometimes shown as Benjamin Stoner [See also Steiner Family in the supplement Related Families. [#17] is Benedict Stoner's Steiner Family Number]

Children of Benedict Stoner and Keziah Morris were as follows:

- 61 i John<sup>4</sup> Stoner died before 1881 married Sarah "Polly" Crawford (?)

Benedict Stoner

Benedick Stoner was born in Frederick County, Maryland in 1767, moved to Lanier Twp, Preble County, Ohio and settled on Twin Creek where the bridge crosses it east of West Alexandria. He took up 50 acres of land* in Lanier township on which he built his cabin, and 160 acres across the line in Twin township. During the year 1812 he, with Judge Nesbit, built a distillery just east of the creek near where he lived. The property was destroyed by fire, a few years after, and was rebuilt by Mr. Stoner who carried on the business alone until his death which took place June 20, 1822. His wife Keziah Morris Stoner died July 2, 1850. They had a family of nine children: John, Lewis and Elizabeth are deceased [1881]; Mrs. Michael Loy lives in Jay County, Indiana; Mrs Nancy Black, widow of Abraham Black, lives west of West Alexandria; Barbara, widow of John Oswalt, in West Alexandria, Ohio. Mrs Black was born in 1807 within one-half mile of where she now lives. History of Preble County, Ohio, H. Z. Williams 1881 p.275

Jacob Loy, Sr.

Piecing together excerpts from Preble County History (1881) and Darke County History (1900), we learn that Jacob Loy married Barbara Bock, born 1769 in Maryland, and three of their eight children were born in Maryland before the family left for Ohio. (Darke Co. History says 8 children, Preble Co. History says 9 children) Jacob Loy Sr. was born in 1766/1767 in Frederick County, Maryland and died 31 December 1853 in West Alexandria, Ohio. He was buried at the Old Town Cemetery and then about 1900, his tombstone and perhaps his body were moved to Sugar Grove Cemetery in New Lexington, Ohio.

When his father Adam went West for five years (1792-1797), Jacob, who was then 26, was left in charge of the family.

In 1800 Jacob and the rest of the family moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, which at that time contained only a few huts and Camp Washington. After spending a short time there, they located in Preble County, Lanier Township in 1805 where Jacob entered 160 acres of land. (There may be more land records to check) The country was very wild. Indians were numerous, and the few settlers were widely scattered. Jacob built a log cabin upon his farm on Twin Creek, cleared nearly all his land, and followed the cooper's trade. He was a supporter of the Democratic party and an active man of the German Lutheran Church, serving as a trustee for many years. The Reformed church at West Alexandria (Preble County) was organized as early as 1816. Among the first families connected with the church were the Sorbers, Loys and Kieslings. Jacob died on his farm January 1, 1854* see above. His wife Barbara died in 1852 after being badly injured in shooting a deer.

According to a 3/12/1939 letter of Norman Pearman, Jacob came west with Michael Temple Sr. It is strange that we find no will for Jacob Loy Sr., since his father and grandfather and son all left wills. Look for Administration of Intestate. Three quitclaim deeds for 110 acres (Section 2, Twp, 5, Range 3) to Jacob Loy Jr. from Samuel Crawford and his wife Elizabeth; David Strader and his wife Mary on 10/19/50 Adam Loy and his wife Elizabeth 8/26/51 and John Loy and his wife Jane 11/10/52 verify that Elizabeth and Mary are children of Jacob Loy Sr., and also suggest an earlier death date for Jacob Sr. than has been generally accepted.

Of the supposedly eight or nine children of Jacob Loy Sr., we have found evidence supporting the following nine: Sarah, Jacob Jr., George, John, Adam, Peter, Elizabeth, Isaac, and Mary. The births of three sons (Jacob, George, and John) are recorded in the records of Zion Lutheran Church, Williamsport, Maryland.

Although some researchers have identified a Conrad Loy as a child of Jacob Loy Sr., this has not been verified, and I believe it arises from a misinterpretation of a statement in the Preble County History that in 1880 only two of the children of Jacob Sr. and Barbara were still living. The next sentence then begins talking about a Jacob born in 1794 and (his son) Conrad born in 1816 who married twice and who came to Preble County when he was six years old. Since Jacob Sr. came to Preble County in 1805, before Conrad was born, it is more likely that Conrad is the son of Jacob Jr. Some researchers just assumed that after saying that only two children were still living, the article then named both of them. But I think this is not so. This article was about early settlers in the area, not specifically about the Loy family. In 1880 two children living in the Preble County area were Jacob Loy Jr., and Mary Loy Strader. A third living child at that date was Elizabeth Crawford, but she had moved to Michigan.

Children of Jacob Loy, Sr. and Barbara Bock:

- 70+ i Sarah “Sally” Loy<sup>4</sup> born 1793 or 1794 married William Walters on 25 July 1824 in Preble County, Ohio. They lived in Preble County and owned land adjoining property of John and Jane Noggle Loy. This land was sold in 1838 to Elis Windel and George Fellers. Sarah and William had two children.
- 71+ ii Jacob Loy Jr.<sup>4</sup> born 18 Sept 1794 in Washington County Maryland married Susannah Temple, daughter of Michael Temple and Margaret Hefner Temple in March 1816 in Butler County, Ohio. They lived in Pymont, Montgomery County, Ohio and in Preble County, Ohio. They had ten children.
- 72+ iii George (John George) Loy<sup>4</sup> born 7 Oct 1796 in Washington County Maryland died 1880 Elkhart Indiana married Susan Crawford born Maryland (See Noble Co, IN history). George and Susan had three children born in Ohio
- 73+ iv John Loy<sup>4</sup> born 29 Feb 1799 in Washington County, Maryland married 29 Apr 1833 in Montgomery County, Ohio, Jane Noggle, daughter of Jacob and ? Noggle. John and Jane owned property adjoining that owned by Sarah (John’s sister)and William Walters in Preble County. This land was sold in 1838 to Elis Windel and George Fellers. About this time John and Jane moved to Indiana where their second daughter was born. John and Jane Loy had two children.
- 74+ v Adam Loy<sup>4</sup> born 1800/1801 in Ohio (Butler Co?) died btwn 1870-1880 married 6 Oct 1822 in Lewisburg, Preble Co.,Ohio Elizabeth Brock, born 1802 in Shenandoah Co., VA, daughter of Fredrick Brock and Elizabeth Tutwiler. Elizabeth was one of 13 children. Adam and Elizabeth Brock Loy had two children.

- 76+ vii Elizabeth Loy<sup>4</sup> born Aug 1804 died 31 Jul 1888 in Eureka, Montcalm Co., Michigan. She married 6 April 1823 in Preble Co Ohio Samuel Crawford. b10 Jul1803. - 77 viii Isaac Loy<sup>4</sup> born 1807 died 1817 (This record was found by Bob and Joan Cain in the Salem Lutheran Church cemetery list compiled by Audrey Gilbert in West Alexandria, Ohio, Preble County) Isaac was the first person to be buried in this cemetery. The cemetery was on land donated by Jacob Parker. Jacob Loy lived very close to Jacob Parker. Since we know that Jacob entered 160 acres of land in Preble County in 1805, that he was active in the German Lutheran Church, and that he and his wife were buried in this cemetery, Isaac may be a son of Jacob Sr. and Barbara.

In the Pearman - Patton records: "George P. Loy, Sarah, his second wife, and children Julia Ann, Sarah E. and Lucinda, are all buried in Sunbury cemetery, south of Germantown, Ohio. The birth and death dates taken from gravestones [by Anita & George Patton 1939] Some of the stones are badly broken and parts of them lost. There was evidence that George P. Loy also married a Nancy Foster, presumably his first wife. The gravestone of Sarah E., daughter, says she was 18 years old at time of death".

George Peter Loy

George Peter Loy was born in Maryland. He was the son of Adam Loy, who served in the Revolutionary War, taking part with General "Mad" Anthony Wayne in the battles of Stony Point [15 Jul 1779] and Paoli, and was wounded in one of these engagements. Adam Loy and his family came down the Ohio River along with Wayne and his troops, and settled in Kentucky near Lexington. Here George Peter Loy, married a young widow, Nancy Riddle, whose maiden name was Foster and who was born in New Jersey in 1774. They removed to Ohio while it was yet a territory, experiencing many of the thrilling events that took place in those early days both in Kentucky and Ohio. They settled on a farm in Warren County, near the Montgomery County line, really Sunbury, near Germantown. Their children were: Nancy; Polly; Christina; Barbara; Katie; John; Jacob; Isaac and Adam. Nancy, wife of George Peter Loy died January 19, 1831 and was buried at Sunbury. Later he decided to move her and it was found that her body had turned to stone. Being such a curiosity they were afraid to let it be known just where she was buried. George Peter Loy died February 26, 1861 at Sunbury, near Germantown. He had several sisters and brothers, but we have trace of only two or three. One sister, Christina, married a Catrow, whose grandson, Joe Catrow lives at Germantown. One married a Parker and lived at West Alexandria, Ohio. The Parker boys moved to the vicinity of Ft. Wayne, Indiana. One brother Jacob Loy lived near West Alexandria. Barbara Loy, daughter of Peter and Nancy Loy, was born in Warren County, Ohio near the Montgomery County line, January 20, 1805. She died at Germantown, Ohio, February 16 or 20, 1877. She was married in April 1822 to Matthew Frank of Sunbury or Germantown. They had six children: Mary; George; Adam; John C.; William Henry and Nancy Jane Frank. One of Barbara Loy's sisters, Nancy, married Tice Frank. Another sister, Katherine or Kate, married Dean Frank. Tice and Dean were brothers, sons of Stephen and Margaret Frank. Matthew Frank's nephews married Barbara Loy Frank's sisters and thus made the children related on both sides of the house. History of Matthew Frank Family by Mrs. H.L.Nelson, 1921, p. 6., History of Montgomery Co., Ohio - Beers p.290 in Smock biography.

George Peter Loy also served as a teamster early in the war of 1812 in Capt. Thomas Clawson's Company of Ohio Militia. He was wounded, captured, lost his team and wagon, but escaped and made his way home. Later in the same war, he raised and was elected Captain of a militia company. He dealt extensively in Ohio land and possessed a comfortable estate at death.

All land here described lies 1-1/2 miles west of the village of Franklin, Warren Co, Ohio and west of the Great Miami River. All in adjoining sections. Sec.5 Twp.1 Rge.5 and Sec.32 Twp.2 Rge.5. Jacob Parker went to Butler Co. Ohio with General Wayne. Built house 1798 near Twin Creek. Entered land with Martin Ruppel, E 1/2 Sec 3, Parker N 1/4. History of Upper Maumee p.258 "When the Preble County lands were first offered for sale, Jacob Parker, together with Martin Ruppel, entered the east half of Sec.3, Parker taking the north quarter on which his cabin was built. This is now [1881] the Motter farm. Parker first settled near Middletown, now Butler County, Ohio. His first wife died there in 1803, he married Miss Mary Loy the same year moved into his cabin on Twin Creek, where he spent the remainder of his life. He died Feb. 26 1848 and was buried in the cemetery at West Alexandria, for which cemetery he donated part of the ground." [Per Norman Pearman letter dated 19 Aug 1939.]

Jacob Parker

The subject of this sketch was born in [Morristown] in the State of New Jersey about the year 1778 but the precise date is unknown. In his early boyhood he was a self-reliant youth, and outspoken in all his transactions with his fellow men, which characteristic adhered to him through life. Son of poor parentage, young Parker, in early life was thrown on his own personal resources for support. When quite a youth he drifted into the State of Pennsylvania, where he apprenticed himself to a blacksmith to learn that trade. After working at that business for a short time, he was either mistreated by his master, or imagined himself to be so, and he therefore left this employment about the year 1792, hearing that Gen. Wayne was raising recruits at Pittsburgh, for the purpose of chastising the Indians of the Northwest, who were then threatening a destruction of the settlers of that quarter. The army under Gen. St. Clair, had shortly before that time, suffered a disastrous defeat, on the head waters of the Wabash, which so emboldened the Indians, that under the lead of their British allies, they threatened to destroy all the Northwestern settlements. In consequence of these discouraging circumstances, volunteers hesitated to join the army and consequently recruits came in slowly.

Young Parker, after he left Pennsylvania, youth yet as he then was, concluded to join Gen Wayne's army, and for this purpose he went, on foot, to Pittsburgh, then headquarters for the rendezvous of recruits. Here he volunteered, when scarcely seventeen years of age, but being well grown and stout, he was accepted, and with the next squad of soldiers was sent down the Ohio River to Fort Harmar, where the city of Cincinnati now stands. Here young Parker arrived late in the fall of 1792, and shortly thereafter, with other recruits was ordered to Fort Hamilton, some twenty-five miles in advance, where he remained during the winter of 1792-93. Here he witnessed the execution of the deserters by Major Rudolph. Early in the spring of 1793, that portion of the army at Forts Hamar and Hamilton, were advanced to Fort Greenville, then somewhat in the Indian country. The line of march is still defined through the counties of Hamilton, Butler, Preble and Darke, by what is now called the "Old Trace" road, which runs through the eastern part of Eaton, in Preble County.

On the march an incident occurred, in which young Parker participated, which seems to have conformed his future life and residence. On the march through Butler county, on the line near Cotton Run, a soldier by the name of Newman deserted the command, and Gen. Wayne, fearing that he would convey injurious reports to the Indians, detailed a squad of men to pursue him, arrest and return him, as a deserter. Young Parker was one of the number, and so early next morning, his party so designated, started in pursuit of the deserter through the wilderness. They soon struck his trail through the woods, which they followed in a northeast direction, and when night overtook them they camped on the west side of Twin Creek, near the north side of Lanier township. Here they kindled a fire, on the bluff, west of the bottom and about half a mile south of east, where the town of West Alexandria is now located. The bottom lands east of the bluff were then covered with a beautiful growth of timber, with a thick undergrowth of spice bush and the wild grape vine, which gathered its fastenings from tree to tree, and leisurely swung, its huge length, in the breeze, the red bud, which skirted the banks of the creek, was then putting forth its early bloom, which beautifully tinged and variegated the forest. The upland to the west presented a beautiful level plain, and covered on all sides by stately sugar trees. Such was somewhat the appearance of this locality, in its native state when young Parker and his comrades camped in the beautiful region about the 20th day of April 1793.

They camped upon the bluff about eighty rods south of the Dayton & Western Turnpike, and in the morning while some of them were getting breakfast, young Parker walked along the ravine and was struck by the beauty and native richness of the locality, and when he returned to camp he remarked to his comrades, that he greatly admired the locality and said he, "If I live and get through this campaign I intend to own this very locality and open a farm and live and die upon it." His comrades laughed at the wild and boyish expression, and the conversation then turned upon the propriety of following the deserter, Newman, any further. It was finally determined, while eating breakfast, that it was no use to pursue him any further, as with the start he had he could easily reach the Indian country before they could overtake him. Accordingly they rejoined the march, a short distance southeast of where Eaton is now located. This incident was related to the writer of this sketch by Mr. Parker himself in his declining years.

The army was disbanded and mustered out of service during the succeeding fall at Fort Harmar. When young Parker was discharged he began to think of the beautiful locality on Twin creek where he had formerly camped. For the purpose of enabling him to secure the locality, he saved his pay which he had received as a soldier and worked at the cooper trade in the then village of Cincinnati and thereby added to his means. Before the lands were in the market he visited the long cherished site on Twin creek and built upon it a rude hut as early as 1798. Here he remained off and on until the land were surveyed and offered for sale and he entered a quarter section, including the very identical site which he had promised himself that he would own. Upon this quarter section he lived and died on the 26 day of February 1848, aged 70 years four months and 16 days, and was buried in the cemetery grounds at West Alexandria.

Mr. Parker was among the earliest permanent settlers on Twin creek and a true type of pioneer life, from which he never departed, in the least. An outspoken and an independent man, and in his intercourse with the world, he was no dissembler. Gifted with a fine constitution, he believed in living to suit himself, and he spent his life accordingly. With no disposition to follow the fashion of society, he bluntly asserted, under all circumstances, what he believed to be true, and stood by it to the bitter end. Strictly an honest man, he scorned a mean trick, and with his outspoken cast of mind, he sometimes disagreed with his neighbors, but the least softening on his part promptly worked amicable relations. As an instance, he and his neighbor, Jacob Sorber, had a misunderstanding about the flow of some water connected with a mill dam on Twin creek, which resulted in a litigation. The damage or advantage to either was merely nominal, but the old neighbors parted, and each one stood upon his own dignity. The litigation was finally compromised, by the respective attorneys engaged, upon equitable and just terms; but the parties litigant remained soured toward each other for years. Finally Mr. Sorber took sick, and on his death bed expressed himself as being desirous for a reconciliation, and when Mr. Parker heard of it, he forthwith visited his neighbor as if no unkindness had ever occurred between them, and kindly waited upon him, until he died.

In the matter of religion, Mr. Parker was a free thinker, but no infidel. He hoped for salvation, not so much upon what he professed, as upon what he had done. He was a kind hearted man. and devoutly loved his friends, but sharply despised his enemies. And to a fault, under the influence of persuasion, but very stubborn under any attempt of coercion. His conversational powers were good and he delighted to talk with his friends. With a fine memory, he would often sit for hours, and relate early incidents connected with the army and the settlement of the county. He was delighted with his home and loved the tract of land upon which he lived, and often declared he would never sell it at any price. But like all the old settlers he had to pass away and his remains now repose near the locality, which so attracted his attention in early life. And so it will be with all, and since it is the inevitable course of nature, why should mankind be either cast down in sorrow or call in question the wisdom of the great Author of life. History of Preble Co. Ohio, pub. 1881, Williams Bros. p.274,282, 286.

For some time researchers were uncertain whether Peter was the youngest son of Adam or the oldest son of Jacob Jr. A Norman Pearman letter is somewhat unclear on this. We conclude that Adam is the father of Peter because he is named as an executor of Barbary Cassell Loy's will along with his brother-in-law, Jacob Parker and as an heir with his other siblings. Furthermore, in the biographical sketch about Elizabeth "Betsy" Loy Stoner, daughter of Peter and Catherine Temple Loy, Betsy's paternal grandparents are named as Adam and Barbara Loy.

Peter Loy went to Jay County, Indiana about 1830 from Preble County, Ohio. He served as a Private from August 23 to September 17, 1812 under Capt. Thomas Clausen in the War of 1812. He was then drafted and served as an Ensign in Captain Thomas Freeman's Ohio Militia from September 15th 1813 for a term of six months. Catherine Temple Loy made a claim as the widow of a deceased soldier and was requesting another land warrant. Her first claim has not been located. Catherine Loy filed Land Warrant Claim #84124 as widow of Peter Loy, making an application for bounty land dated 28 Sep 1850. She received 40 acres which she may have sold. She applied again 30 Oct 1855, result unknown.

Martin Garringer has 1 Sep 1790 as Catherine's birth date. This is from a baptismal record for German Reformed Ch., Frederick, Maryland Vol, 1-2-3? p.249 Is this the same Catherine? A copy of the document reads: "Sep 1/90 with Feb underneath. Michael Tempel [child] Catherine [sponsors] Mother of Child, Mrs M. Tempel" Also see History of Jay County, IN by Milton T. Jay.

Henry Stoner

Henry Stoner, farmer, section 17, Madison Township, was born in Preble County, Ohio, April 19, 1810. His early life was spent in that county, and he was married there October 9, 1830, to Miss Elizabeth Loy, who was born near Middletown, Montgomery County, Ohio, July 8, 1811. She was reared and married in Preble County. Her father Peter Loy, was born in Maryland and died in Madison Township, this county. Her mother, Catherine (Temple) Loy, was also born in Maryland and died in Madison Township, this county. The parents were married in Montgomery County, Ohio, near West Alexandria, where they lived until they came to this county, in 1830. Their [Peter and Catherine Loy's] children were Michael, Elizabeth, Jacob, Adam, Samuel, John, Mary A., Margaret, Henry and Catherine Loy. All came to this county except Mrs. Stoner, Jacob and Michael. Her mother died in this county at the age of eighty-four years. Mr. Stoner's father, Benjamin Stoner, was born in Maryland, December 1, 1766, and died in Preble County, Ohio, in January, 1821. His mother, Keziah Morris Stoner, was born in Maryland in 1781. They were married in their native State and removed to Preble County in 1804, where they passed the remainder of their days. They were the parents of nine children: John; Lewis; Charlotte; Nancy; Henry; Elizabeth "Betsy"; Frederick; Mary Jane and Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. [Henry] Stoner have had ten children: Mary Magdalene, born March 17, 1835, died April 24, 1860; David, born July 9, 1836; Jacob, born October 9, 1838; Catherine, born November 23, 1840, died March 5, 1846; Lewis, born June 1, 1844; Francis H., born November 2, 1846; Amanda E., born November 17, 1848, and three unnamed died in infancy in Preble County. Mr. Stoner was a great hunter and an excellent marksman. His axe and gun made him a good living in the early day. He removed to this [Jay] county in 1849, locating on the farm he now occupies and owns. He built a hewed-log cabin, which is still standing south of his present house and is occupied as a store-room. His milling was done at Richmond and Greenville, although there was a horse mill near that was owned and operated by Jesse Eblin, but the work was unsatisfactory. He came with sufficient means to pay for his land and that was all. He now has 165 acres of land in Section 17, also 85 acres of well improved land in Section 7.

Mrs. Stoner's maternal grandparents, Michael and Margaret Heffner Temple, were born in Maryland and died near Middletown, Ohio. Her paternal grandparents, Adam and Barbara Loy, were also born in Maryland, and both died in Preble County, Ohio. Mr. Stoner's first tax after coming to this county was $18. His taxes in 1886 were $137.65. Biographical and Historical Record of Jay and Blackford Counties Indiana, Lewis Pub. Co., Chicago, 1887 p.399. History of Jay County Indiana, Historical Publishing Co., Indianapolis. Milton T. Jay Co., M.D., Vol. II, pp.360-362.

William was born 1790/1791 and died 1 Feb 1864. The Walters family lived in Preble County and owned land adjoining property of John and Jane Noggle Loy. This land was sold in 1838 to Elis Windel and George Fellers. William served in the War of 1812. Both Sarah and William were buried in Old Town Cemetery, West Alexandria, Ohio.

Jacob Loy, Jr.

Jacob Loy was nearly seven years of age when the family came to Ohio. He was never able to attend school, but taught himself as well as he could and acquired an excellent knowledge of farm work at home. He rented land in Twin Creek township until 1832 when he purchased one hundred and sixty acres from Christian Kuhn for five hundred dollars. At that time there were no roads or public schools in the locality, and while serving as a school director, he built a schoolhouse with money from his own pocket. He improved his land and built thereon a log house and stable. He was very stout, hardy, and rugged, and a good farmer and all around man. He served as a private in the war of 1812 and was stationed at Ft. Nesbit for six months. Politically he was originally a Democrat and supported Andrew Jackson for his first term, but later he became a Whig and finally a Republican. Religiously he was a member of the German Reformed Church. Biographical History of Darke County, Ohio, published in 1900.

The pension papers show that Jacob Loy, Jr. was a private in Captain Richard Sloan's Company of the Ohio Militia from 8 October 1812 to 7 April 1813. He received a land-warrant from the United States for some acres, but sold them. The County Payroll shows that the pay was $6.66 per month. Eloine Chesnut states he bought 80 acres of Government land at $1.25 pr acre southwest of Pymont in Preble County on the west side of the county line.

Jacob Loy Jr. and Susannah Temple Loy had ten children: Conrad, George, Greenberry, David, Catherine, Mary, Michael, Lewis, John and Jacob H.

(The 1850 Preble County Census also lists a Susan Loy living with the family who is the same age as Jacob H. Susan born . 1835/1836 is probably one of two daughters of John Loy who relinquished guardianship of his children in favor of Jacob. The other girl, Matilda Jane, born 1839 is listed by the 1859 Census as living with Jacob Loy Jr.'s sister Mary Loy who married David Strader. The two girls were heirs of Jacob Noggle, apparently their mother's father.

The 1850 census shows Jacob and Susannah and four of their sons: Lewis, John, Jacob H., and Michael, living in Twin Township on farmland between two more of their sons: Conrad Loy and his family and son David and his family. One of the sons living with them, Michael, has recently married Abigail Evans who also lives with the family. A young relative Susan Loy is also part of the family. Their son Greenberry, his wife Pamela and their family also live on a farm in Twin Township. Their son George has died. One daughter, Mary, her husband Samuel Gentner, and their family live nearby in Twin Township. Their remaining daughter, Catherine, who married Daniel Fritz, has also died.

By 1860, Susannah has died. Jacob is listed as head of a household including Lewis and his wife Elizabeth and their two children; and Jacob H. and his wife Catharine.

The 1870 census shows Jacob living with his son Conrad and his family, but shortly thereafter on 30 August 1870, Jacob then age 76, married Lydia King, the widow of William King. They were married in Montgomery County, Ohio. Jacob's will, made 7 February 1878, leaves bequests to his children, and his remaining estate to his second wife, Lydia. On the 30th of March 1880 he added a codicil which named Christian Gentner as his executor in place of his son Conrad. After Jacob's death, Lydia filed a claim for a widow's pension. On documents requiring their signatures, both signed by making their marks (x).

Michael Loy

Michael Loy began his education in a hewed log schoolhouse and after acquiring a fair district school education, he followed farming until his marriage in 1849 when he turned his attention to brick making. From 1851 to 1858 he cultivated a rented farm, and after moving to his own 45 acres in 1858, he often rented other land as well. He has drained his land, erected all of the buildings thereon, has successfully engaged in general farming. In 1849 Mr. Loy married Miss Abigail Evans, who was born in Montgomery County, Ohio in 1825 or (25 April 1824), a daughter of *John Evans, (This appears to be a mistake as the census and other descendants list Abigail's parents as William Evans and Mary Martin Evans.) and to them were born five children: Isaac Newton received a good public school education and is now the pastor of the Reformed church in Versailles; Mary E. is the wife of Solomon Hart; Jacob Henry, who is at home with his parents, married Catherine Null (Knoll), a native of Union City, and they have two sons, David Earl and John Russell, now in school; Conrad Madison married Laura Rowe and followed farming; and Clara Belle is the wife of James M. Lea.

In 1864, during the Civil War, Mr. Loy enlisted in Company D, One Hundred and Fifty-second Ohio Volunteer Infantry under Captain Creveston and took a Wagon train to General Hunter, remaining in active service until the company was mustered out. He is now an honored member of the McPherson Post, G.A.R. He cast his first presidential vote for Zachary Taylor and is now an ardent supporter of the Republican party, but has never cared for political preferment, though he served eight years as school director. He is an advocate of temperance principles and is an active and consistent member of the Reformed church in which he has served as deacon for twelve years.

Biographical History of Darke County, Ohio, published in 1900

From his Civil War application for pension we have this description: When Michael Loy enlisted on May 2, 1864 at the age of 36, he was 5 feet 9 inches tall, complexion dark, dark hair, grey eyes, and his occupation was farming. He made application for pension on July 19, 1890 saying that he was three-fourths disabled due to two ruptures and heart trouble. According to a questionnaire from the Bureau of Pensions dated January 15, 1898, the pension was granted. He was asked about his wife and the date when they were married. He was also asked about his children, their names and dates of birth. He named his children, but avoided giving dates of birth, saying they were all past 21 years of age. He was able to sign his own name. A new act of Congress on February 6, 1907 seems to have required a review of his military service. The envelope is dated July 31, 1907.

This photograph shows Abigail and Michael who is holding his grandchild David Earl Loy. It was taken probably in 1888 or 1889.

In a 1976 letter to Ann Bueltmann from Winifred Hartzell Kovacic:

In The Loy Family in America, my great-grandmother Elizabeth is mentioned. "She died young and never married." The truth is that this Loy daughter from a family, that ran a saw mill and still and loved parties and music, married Beniah Shank, a very straight-laced and strict Brethren Dunkard. Elizabeth went to live at Beniah's parents' farm and had two daughters (one, my grandmother). Elizabeth left him and the daughters and returned to her parents' home where she did die early. My grandmother, Almeda Belle Shank, a little girl was allowed to see her mother when she was dying. Grandma was told what a wicked woman Elizabeth Loy was, but later knew this was said just because of the great difference between the two families. I have a beautiful picture of Elizabeth Loy with an exquisite ruffled taffeta dress and beautiful hair-do. The Shank pictures are all tightly drawn severe faces (at least Beniah's family) and the women all wear black dresses.

Francis A. Stoner

Francis A. Stoner, a member of the township advisory board of Madison township and one of the well known and substantial farmers and landowners of that township, is a native son of Jay county, a member of one of the pioneer families here, and has lived in this county all his life. Mr. Stoner was born on a farm in Madison township on November 30, 1873, and is a son of Francis H. and Matilda Bibler Stoner, the latter of whom was a member of the Bibler family which came over here from Ohio in 1851 and settled in Madison township.... Francis A. Stoner received his schooling in the neighborhood schools and continued farming with his father until his marriage in his twenty-fifth year, after which he began farming on his own account, renting a tract of eighty-five acres from his father, and was thus engaged for fifteen years. In the fall of 1913, Mr. Stoner bought the farm of 110 acres on which he is now living in Madison township and in the following year (1914) established his home there... He is a Democrat and he and his wife are members of the Pleasant Hill Christian church, over in the neighboring county of Randolph. It was on November 2, 1898, that Francis A. Stoner was united in marriage to Melissa Sheffer, who was born in Mercer county, Ohio, daughter of Andrew and Sophia Mitchell Sheffer, the latter of whom was born in Indiana. Andrew Sheffer was born in Preble county, Ohio, and became a well-to-do farmer in Mercer county. He and his wife had six children, all of whom are living, Mrs. Stoner having one brother, Henry Sheffer, and four sisters, Elizabeth, Emma, Ella and Arabella. To Francis A. and Melissa Sheffer Stoner three children have been born, namely: Erma R., born on August 5, 1899, who married Henry Lindley, a farmer of Randolph county, this state, and has one child, a son, Eldon, born on January 14, 1918; Millard E., born on June 11, 1902, who is now an assistant to his father on the farm, and Harold L., born on September 7, 1907, who also is at home. The Stoners have a pleasant home on rural mail route No. 1 out of Union City, Indiana and have ever taken an interested part in the community's general social activities. Mr. Stoner has for years given his earnest attention to local civic affairs and is now serving the public in the important capacity of member of the Madison township advisory board.

Some Recollections of Michael Loy and Isaac Newton Loy

Contained in a letter from Robert Leon Loy to Anna M .Wise Bueltmann October, dated 1974. "... I found the chart you sent very interesting. I have shown it to some of my father's cousins, and my only uncle, Harry Loy, Mrs. Nadine Brook's father, and it contained information they were unaware of. I also showed it to my aunt (by marriage, who is also your grandfather's stepdaughter. She is my aunt because she married my father's twin brother. I assume you know I am referring to Mildred Walters Loy. If you do not know this, by now you must be very confused. I recall going to visit uncle "Ike" and aunt "Ida", when I was quite young. I especially remember your grandfather's funeral. It seemed as the minister preached all day long. Of course, in those days, I guess all funerals were very lengthy, and most everyone who ever knew the deceased, went to the service to pay their respects to the deceased."

. . . re: Michael Loy. "Aunt Mildred told me he died of gangrene of the leg at my grandfather Loy's home on the Brown Twp. side of the Brown-Jackson township line. This particular farm had been owned by the Gentner's prior to Grandfather Loy purchasing it. Mrs. Gentner was one of his ancestors, and naturally, one of ours. My dad and mother (Claud and Alga Loy) also lived on this farm twice. The last time after I was born. The farm was sold to someone outside the family in 1934, but about one year ago (1973), my oldest brother, Marion, bought it, so once again it is the Loy farm. Our Great grandfather Michael Loy's farm was directly across the road in Jackson Twp. Our Great Uncle Henry Loy lived on this farm in Jackson Twp. at the time Michael died. Aunt Mildred said my grandmother (Laura Bell Roe Loy) had Michael to come across the road to stay with them, because she said Henry and his wife weren't "taking good care of him." This is the reason he died in Brown Twp. Darke County."

Also enclosed with the letter above was a newspaper article on the centennial celebration for the Champion Grange 728 in Darke County, which had its beginning March 18, 1874 with 28 charter members. Of interest to us are relatives listed among the charter members: John Stuck, J.H. Stuck, I.N. Loy, J.H. Loy, W.R. Stuck, C.M. Loy, Catherine Stuck, Mary Stuck, Laura Stuck, Nancy Gentner, M.A. Loy and Abigail Loy. The grange was originally located in Greenville Township adjoining the Township Line Road. A fire in 1886 destroyed the grange and its charter. A new charter was granted and later a new grange hall was built.

In reply to the letter above, Anna M. Buelmann wrote to Robert Leon Loy November, 1974

I was never very well acquainted with the Ohio relatives as my parents left Darke Co. when they were married and lived in St. Louis, Mo. where they raised their family. We visited in Ohio on rare occasions. But I was a child and didn't remember all the people we met. After I was older, I spent some summer vacations in Ohio and remember staying at my grandfather Loy's house where they still used kerosene lamps, although city people had electricity. We called Ida, "Grandma", although we knew that she was our mother's step-mother. We have fond memories of those times. If you talk to Mildred Loy again soon, you can tell her that I am the former Anna Marie Wise, the daughter of Bertha Loy and George F. Wise. She will remember me, I think. I feel sure that we knew each other many years ago.

Conrad Madison Loy (?), Pansy Garrison Loy, Laura Roe Loy (?), David Earl Loy, (unknown), Ida Walters Loy (2nd wife of I.N. Loy), Isaac Newton Loy ca. 1914

The male and female in the front row left may be two children of Ida Walters Loy: Mildred and Kenneth Walters instead of Ray and Ruth Conrad. Would two children be in the photo without their parents? Also there appears to be a woman behind David Earl Loy's head and next to the unknown man. These two may be Clara Belle Loy Lea and her husband James Lea. The two children might be Letha and David Lea.

Heart Attack Fatal to Mrs. Ida Loy

Immediate survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Loy, Greenville; one step-daughter, Mrs. Ollie Lamb, Dayton; two sons, Kenneth and Clyde Walters, both of Ansonia R.R.; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Solomon D. Hart

Solomon D. Hart is now a prominent farmer residing on section 36, Jackson township, Darke county, Ohio. Solomon's father Joseph Hart, was born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania in 1812, of English parentage, and like most boys of that day received only such an education as he could pick up at odd intervals. Being left fatherless during his boyhood, it was very necessary that he should help support the family, and he and his two brothers were bound apprentices, but when he was old enough to care for himself he came to Ohio and settled near Dayton, where he worked for some time. About 1837 he married Magdalene Shidler, a daughter of John Shidler, and they reared eight children, namely: B. Franklin, Peter, Cyrus, Levi, Jonathan, Solomon D., Mrs. Catherine Sullenberger and Mrs. Esther Geiger. The father rented two farms near Bradford, where he remained until he entered land on section 36, Jackson township, Darke county, where our subject, Solomon D., now resides. There were very few settlers in this locality at that time; there was only a small store where Woodington now stands and money was exceedingly scarce. Upon this place Mr. Joseph Hart built a barn and double log house, which was the home of the family for some years, and was a very good building for those days. It was afterward replaced by a fine brick residence,—one of the first in the township. It was destroyed by fire in 1880, but was soon rebuilt. The original farm of eighty acres was enlarged to one hundred and sixty acres by the purchase of a tract of land from Peter Shidler... Joseph Hart died in 1881 in his sixty-seventh year, and his wife survived him exactly four years.

Solomon D. Hart was born in Miami county, Ohio, January 16, 1847, and was a mere infant when the family came to Darke county. In 1873 Mr. Hart was united in marriage with Miss Mary E. Loy, a native of Preble county and a daughter of Michael Loy. She came with her family to this county when four years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Hart have three children, namely: Della, wife of a Mr. Huffard*, a merchant of Elroy; Alva L., who is attending school and assisting his father on the farm; and Eliza, also in school.

After his marriage Mr. Hart rented a farm near his father's place for eighteen months and then purchased forty acres adjoining, on which he lived for seven years. He then removed to the old homestead, where he still resides, having purchased the interests of the other heirs in the place. Here he has one hundred and twenty acres of land under a high state of cultivation, on which is a fine brick residence and several large barns. He also owns forty-five acres of bottom land in Brown township, which he has drained and converted into a very productive tract...

George Franklin Wise

Another birth date given is 25 Feb 1883 (May be the date the birth was recorded). George Franklin Wise was born in Richland Twp, Darke Co. Ohio., the youngest child of Benjamin L. And Anna Marie Coppess Wise. George Franklin was a school teacher from the time he was sixteen years old. He taught in a public grade school and high school in Ohio (See picture of Webster School, upper class spring 1908). In 1912, George Franklin accepted a teaching position in St. Louis, Missouri with Brown's Business College. He married Bertha Abigail Loy in St. Louis, Missouri on September 22, 1912. George and Bertha had three daughters and one son. For several years the family lived in Cairo, IL when the Business College sent George there to be in charge of a branch of the Business College in Cairo. When the family returned they lived in several locations in St. Louis, before buying land in Ramona Park and building their own home. When Berkeley Missouri was incorporated, Samuel Fordyce was appointed as Berkeley's first mayor, with George Wise, Norman Champ, Arthur Kelly and Vernon Beach as its first Board of Alderman. These positions were to be held until an election could be held April 12, 1939. Fordyce resigned his position as Mayor before the first election, and George Wise finished out his term. In the election Wise defeated his opponent Spillington 325 to 167. He thus served as the first elected mayor of Berkeley, Missouri.
